

Codonics Container Labeling System Demo License USB Key

Technical Brief

Overview

Thank you for purchasing the Codonics Container Labeling System™ (CLS) demonstration product set. Your system includes a USB key that contains a master distributor license for all of your CLS demonstrations.

Demo License USB Key

Please locate the demonstration license USB key, which is packaged in your Container Labeling System label media carton. The USB key is labeled and serialized as shown in the illustration below.

NOTE: The style and shape of the demo license USB key may vary.

NOTE: The USB key included with your CLS demonstration system should remain in your possession for utilization during customer presentations and reviews.

Using the Demo License USB Key

A demonstration system can be operated by running the CLS directly from the USB key installed in an available USB port on any personal computer. Additionally, the contents of the USB key may be copied to a personal computer and CLS may be run only when the USB key is installed in an available USB port.

NOTE: The demonstration software is currently available only in English.
